A key objective of ultra scale-down technologies is to determine if the biological material is susceptible to applied process shear stress, and if so to quantify the effect of shear stress on the material and on the performance of subsequent unit operations, for example, filtration or chromatography.

Ultra scale-down approaches to enhance the creation of

A viable cell count is essential to evaluate the kinetics of cell growth. Since the hemocytometer was first used for counting blood cells, several variants of the methodology have been developed towards reducing the time of analysis and improving accuracy through automation of both sample preparation and counting.
